FOOTBALL

In the most spectacular contest ever played between Phillips Andover and Phillips Exeter, the Andover football team won from Exeter 6 to 0 on Brooks Field Saturday. Andover easily outgeneraled Exeter and won because she played a more intelligent and consistent game than her opponent.

The instructions of the Andover coach, Dr. J. F. O'Connor, were carefully carried out. In almost every instance the Andover back field players made a fair catch after a punt, regardless of their position in the field, and in that way were saved from many hard knocks which might have incapacitated them from further participation in the contest.

As the result of such wise directions the Andover backfield was strong throughout the game. The Exeter backs on the other hand were allowed to attempt to run back punts and in consequence an entire new set of backs had to be substituted before the end of the game.

Neither team could make much progress by rushing. The game was full of kicking, forward passes and other open plays. Andover easily excelled in punting and it was due to her superiority in that line that she was able to score. Both teams had a well perfected defense and Exeter on one occasion held Andover on her one-yard line.

Vaughn was Exeter's best ground gainer and he made desperate efforts to spur his team on to victory, but his own costly misplay in the first half, a fumble on Exeter's two-yard line, gave Andover her opportunity to score the touchdown which won the game.

Ideal weather favored the players and more than 5000 enthusiastic followers of both teams turned out to witness the battle. Exeter sent down a big delegation of students, and they taxed the south bleachers to the limit. The Andover sympathizers were massed on the north side and through the contests both gatherings kept up a continual din of encouragement.

With such star punters as Capt. Daly, Haines and Kilpatrick, and such fleet-footed sprinters as Richmond, Favorite and Fisher, Andover decided to play a kicking game. On every Exeter punt "fair catches" were invariably made and this method of halting the ball saved the Andover men many painful bumps and bruises from Exeter's tacklers.

Time and again Andover would take one rush after securing the ball and then the leather would go sailing down the field from the toe of some man in the Andover backfield. Forward passes were worked many times by both teams and in a majority of instances some good gains were registered.

Exeter came on the field with a well-drilled aggregation, coached by Ex-Capt. Jim Hogan of Yale. His boys went the limit in their efforts to hold Andover, and only two magnificent rallies when Andover was in the danger zone prevented the winners from rolling up a larger score.

Andover's policy in punting continually kept her line men in good condition for determined assaults in the second period and the saving of strength enabled the Blue and White to carry off supreme honors, as Exeter made a magnificent attempt to make a touchdown in the last part of the game, but failed to gain the necessary distance by only a yard or so.

The Exeter men were not sure on their catches in the first period and they refused to ask for fair catches. With Capt. Vaughan and Gilroy, two sprinters, to run with the ball after nailing it, Exeter hoped to easily outclass her rivals, but in this surmise the Exeter contingent did not reckon on Andover's flyers, who tore down the field at a terrific clip and dumped the man with the leather without trouble.

It was very fortunate for Andover that she had such a contingent of sprinters on her team, as three times the Exeter men grabbed the ball on forward passes and started for the goal posts with nobody to intercept them. On their tracks, however, were Capt.

Daly, Kilpatrick, Merritt and Richmond and they were brought down before making much headway.

Andover showed a surprising coolness in the first period and easily held her own with the losers when the latter appeared dangerous. Three times in this half Capt. Daly tried goals from placement, but missed, and twice he made a bid for goal from the field only to see the ball go to the right of the posts.

The kicking duel, forward passing and short kicks made the game the most "open" ever seen here and the spectators had every opportunity to follow the play.

Capt. Daly kept his punters busy with Haines doing the long direct punting, Kilpatrick the halfback kicks and Merritt the short inside punts.

Exeter used Keady in the first half, but he was apparently nervous and he had hard work getting any distance. Hart did the kicking in the second period, and he met with some success, his long, low spirals doing considerable damage.

Merritt, the Andover quarterback, went into the contest with a bad shoulder, but notwithstanding his handicap he put up a very good exhibition and directed his play with fine judgment. On the forward passes and quarter-back kicks, used by Exeter, he raised havoc by beautiful blocking and it tended not a little to rattle the New Hampshire boys.

The entire Andover backfield worked as a unit and was assisted pretty well in the pulling and pushing game by the forwards.

White and Hart, the Exeter tacklers, fought stubbornly throughout both periods to land victory for their team and they were conspicuous in every scrimmage. Capt. Vaughan at quarter-back handled his offense well, but on the defense he was erratic, as was also Gilroy, his other backfield man. Both made some bad blunders in trying to get under Andover's punts and it was on one of these blunders that Andover got the ball and held it until a touchdown was registered.

For more than 20 minutes in the first period the play alternated between the two 25-yard lines until finally Favorite drove a long high spiral toward Exeter's goal line from the middle of the field.

It was a splendid punt and when it came down Capt. Vaughan and Gilroy were unable to handle it clean. Richmond, Favorite and Capt. Daly were on the ball like a flash, and Richmond fell on it four yards from Exeter's goal line.

In rapid succession two line smashes were ordered and Andover advanced to within one yard of the goal posts. On the final try Capt. Daly fell over the chalkmark for a touchdown, and great was the joy of the Andover rooters. The Andover leader kicked the goal from a bad angle, and the winners had a 6 to 0 advantage.

In the second period both teams played stubbornly. Andover was forced three times to check Exeter's advance inside her own 15-yard line, but after receiving the ball Haines would boot it far down the field and out of danger. Once Exeter got to Andover's eight-yard line only to lose the ball by six inches.

Exeter held Andover for downs less than a yard from the Exeter goalposts and this was followed by Capt. Daly making a fair catch. He had a fair chance for a field goal but missed the posts by a foot.

The game was clean throughout, not a single penalty being imposed for off-side or holding. Exeter was penalized once for illegal running with the ball, and Andover lost 15 yards for hurdling. The summary:

KEEPING TAB ON THE WORLD

Result of Elections Generally Credited to Roosevelt and Prosperity—Hearst to Continue Trust Fight In Ranks. Moody For Supreme Court and Garfield Secretary of Interior—President Off to Panama—Pennsylvania Railroad Gives 10 Per Cent Wage Advance. Cabinet For China.

POLITICAL

Congress Again Republican.

A working Republican majority of fifty-four in the next house of representatives is indicated by the returns at this writing. This is more than conservative Republicans had anticipated. The result is regarded as a tribute to the popularity of President Roosevelt. Among the more notable Republicans who failed to be returned are Babcock of Wisconsin, Wadsworth of New York, Lacey of Iowa and McCleary of Minnesota. Among several union labor members elected the most prominent is likely to be William B. Wilson, national secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers, who defeated Deemer in a Republican stronghold of Pennsylvania. The Democrats gained in all thirty congressmen, as follows:

W. B. Wilson.

Illinois, 5; Indiana, 3; Iowa, 1; Minnesota, 1; Missouri, 6; Nebraska, 1; New Jersey, 3; New York, 1; North Carolina, 1; Ohio, 3; Pennsylvania, 5. Republicans gained one each in Kentucky and West Virginia, making the net Democratic gain twenty-eight.

Montana.—Republican legislature and congressman.

Nebraska.—Sheldon, Republican, elected governor by a plurality of 10,000, and the rest of the Republican ticket by a narrow margin.

Nevada.—Democratic silver party victorious, electing John Sparks governor.

New Hampshire.—Result extremely close, nearly complete returns giving the state to Floyd, Republican. Election thrown into legislature.

New York.—Hearst defeated by Hughes, Republican, by 60,000 plurality, but the rest of the Hearst ticket elected by from 1,000 to 10,000 plurality, thus showing that a large number of voters who were opposed to the Republican party management had been unable or unwilling to swallow Hearst. Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler thus becomes lieutenant governor. The democratic attorney general, Jackson, is expected to compel a recount of the votes in the New York city contest for mayor. Hearst ran behind in Greater New York, although he carried the city by about 72,000. Most of the large cities in the state went for Hearst, but the country districts remained in the Republican column, though with decreased majorities.

Charles E. Hughes.

New Jersey.—Legislature Republican, but by decreased majority, so that Dryden's re-election to the senate is endangered.

North Carolina.—Democratic as usual, by over 40,000.

North Dakota.—Saries, Republican, elected governor by a small margin, but the Democrats made gains in many sections, carrying several cities for Fisk.

Ohio.—Republican by over 50,000 plurality.

Oklahoma.—Majority of constitutional convention radical Democrats, thus insuring primary election law and the referendum for the new state.

Pennsylvania.—Stuart and regular Republican ticket elected by 50,000 over fusion ticket headed by Emery. Through treachery of Democratic fusionists in Philadelphia, the old party machine overcame the reformed forces, giving a majority of 8,000 to Rotan for district attorney.

Rhode Island.—Higgins, the Democratic "boy mayor of Pawtucket," elected governor by 1,238 over Governor Utter. Legislature Republican.

South Dakota.—Crawford and Republican ticket elected by 20,000. Democratic gains in the towns.

Tennessee.—Patterson, Democrat, elected governor over Evans, Republican.

Texas.—Campbell, Democrat, elected governor by 135,000 plurality. Negro party wiped out.

Utah.—Howell, Republican, re-elected congressman at large by 10,000 majority.

Virginia.—Nine out of ten congressmen Democratic.

Wisconsin.—Davidson, Republican, elected governor by 60,000. La Follette forces defeated Boden as district attorney of Milwaukee, electing McGovern, Independent.

Wyoming.—Brooks, Republican, was elected governor; legislature Republican.

Roosevelt on the Result. President Roosevelt made a quick trip to Oyster Bay on election day to cast his vote for the Republican ticket, and when the result of the contest was made known he expressed great satisfaction. In a telegram to his victorious son-in-law, Longworth, who was re-elected to congress, the president said: "We seem to have done pretty well all along the line." In a message to Speaker Cannon he said, "Three cheers for Uncle Joe and the people who had the good sense to elect him."

EXECUTIVE

Powwow With Ute Chiefs.

Major General Greely wired the department at Washington that Colonel Rodgers of the Ninth cavalry, which forms a part of the military expedition against the Ute Indians in Wyoming, held an extended conference with the chiefs, who had promised to go to Washington and tell their grievances to the president. Rodgers said that he was convinced that the Indians were acting in good faith and did not think it necessary to disarm them. The chiefs consented to go to Fort Mead, where they were held as prisoners pending the final decision of the president. It is apparent that the Utes are dissatisfied at the opening up of the entire Utah reservation and that they desire new "hunting grounds" and freedom from free citizenship.

President Starts For Panama.

President Roosevelt left Washington on Nov. 8 on the Mayflower for the mouth of the Potomac, where he was transferred to the battleship Louisiana, the newest and largest vessel of the navy, which was waiting to convey him to the isthmus of Panama for a personal inspection of the canal project. The trip is notable as making a new precedent, for never before has a president of the United States left the territory of this country during his incumbency. This President Roosevelt will do when he goes ashore at Colon. He will, however, be in constant communication with Washington by wireless.

The Largest American Flag.

In the postoffice department building at Washington the largest American flag in the world has just been unfurled. When it was suspended from a cable at the seventh floor across an inner court the 2,500 employees joined in singing "The Star Spangled Banner." The flag is fifty feet long by thirty feet wide.

St. Louis Subtreasury Theft.

The report of the treasury experts who have been examining the books of the subtreasury at St. Louis shows that a shortage of $61,500 exists, but they were unable to trace the responsibility for it. Assistant Treasurer Akin will be called upon to make good the deficit. He is bonded for $250,000. Detectives will continue to work on the case.

Another Cabinet Change.

President Roosevelt announced last week that when Secretary of the Interior Hitchcock retired voluntarily March 4 he would be succeeded by James R. Garfield of Ohio, now commissioner of corporations. At the same time he announced the appointment of Attorney General Moody as associate justice of the supreme court to succeed Henry B. Brown of Michigan, retired. Herbert K. Smith, now assistant commissioner of corporations, will succeed Garfield. William A. Richards will retire as commissioner of the general land office.

Weather Chief Moore Censured.

Before starting on his Panama trip the president directed that a reprimand be given to Willis L. Moore, chief of the weather bureau, for having transferred a printer named Cooper, who had been discharged from the typographical union for not paying his strike assessments. Cooper, who was sent to New Orleans, will return to his place at Washington.

Negro Battalion Dismissed.

Every member of Companies B, C and D of the Twenty-fifth infantry, "colored," is to be discharged from the army and forever debarred from enlisting either in the army or navy or from being employed by the government in any civil capacity, according to an order issued by President Roosevelt because of the refusal of these men to give General Garlington, inspector general of the army, the names of the men implicated in the shooting of citizens at Brownsville, Tex., where the troops were stationed on Aug. 13. In making this recommendation General Garlington said he recognized the fact that a number of innocent men would have to suffer for the guilty.

Slur on Negro Soldiers.

The president has directed a court of inquiry to investigate the accuracy of a published interview in which Colonel Pitcher of the Twenty-seventh infantry, stationed at Fort Sheridan, near Chicago, expressed disgust because a squadron of cavalry had been sent to that fort. He is quoted as having said that the negroes would never have been sent there without protest if he was to remain in command.

SOCIOLOGICAL

To Supervise Marriages.

The American Stock Breeders' association has appointed a committee on eugenics, headed by Alexander Graham Bell, the object of which is to improve the quality of the human species by spreading information in regard to the ill effects of the marriage of defective persons. Professor Charles R. Henderson of the sociological department of the Chicago university is a member of this committee.

A Woman Enlightens Women.

Mrs. Sally Morris Corey had some really refreshing things to say to the clubwomen who attended the meeting of the Society for Political Study at New York. One was that a woman must be either a fool or a toady without original or independent speech if she was to be a popular clubwoman. She said the business woman was all right if she was one, but that too many made a pretense of business, hoping to secure notice or make a match. She compared the nineteenth century mother and homemaker with the up to date college girl pursuing a foreign title, "neglectful mothers of unwished for children." She insisted that until we had women judges, juries and executioners the sex would never be on a real equality with men.

Trouble of Title Hunters.

The infelicities of married life for those rich American girls who seek titled husbands abroad have had two notable illustrations, one in the divorce proceedings of the Countess de Castellane, formerly Anna Gould, and the other in the separation of the Duchess of Marlborough from the duke. Counsel for the countess told in court how her husband teased and abused her almost from the moment of their marriage, even striking her in the presence of servants. She now wishes to return to her home in America and asks to retain the custody of her two children. The separation of the Marlboroughs was placed on the ground of incompatibility of temper, the duchess retaining possession of her town house and dowry, but agreeing not to go to Blenheim. King Edward went personally to the duchess to try to effect a reconciliation, without success.

Electric Municipal Lighting Failure.

The taxpayers of Atlantic, Ia., on Nov. 17 will hold a special election to determine the selling of the local electric light and power plant, which has been operated at a loss for the past five years.

EFFECTUAL FACE BLEACH.

Oatmeal and buttermilk combined make the most effectual bleach for the skin. A paste should be made of the powdered oatmeal mixed with sufficient buttermilk to make it the consistency of very thick cream, and it should be left on the face, hands and arms long enough to do its work. Takes time enough—an hour is not too long—then spray it off and rinse thoroughly with warm water and apply cold cream.

A muddy skin is frequently the result of errors in diet. The color of the skin is easily affected by impure air, but even more quickly will it suffer from food not suited to the system. It is the indiscriminate eating of fried things, sweets and too much meat that plays havoc with American complexions. All Americans eat too much meat. Once a day is enough for any but a laboring man. Some physicians forbid roast beef often more than once a month to patients who do not exercise much.

Sweets should be eaten in moderation. More than a little will cause fermentation, resulting in acidity and indigestion; this may be so slight as to create little discomfort, but the blood is affected by it, and consequently the complexion.

A young girl sat opposite me on an out-bound train on which I was going to a suburban resort last summer. She was beautifully dressed, and I noticed the perfection of her figure and the beauty of her features, but I mentally exclaimed, "What a pity her good looks are spoiled by those unsightly pimples about her mouth!" I understood the cause when I saw her open a box of candies as soon as the train had started and continue to munch them until she arrived at her station.

To insure a good complexion eat cereals, vegetables, fruits and eggs; abstain from immoderate tea and coffee drinking, and avoid fried dishes as you would poison. Sleep in a well ventilated room and exercise sufficiently to keep the vital organs in sound condition.

A HEAT-PROOF HOLDER.

Whoever does much or little ironing will do well to have a holder of the following sort: Get a piece of pliable asbestos cloth, four by six inches, and stitch it carefully between two pieces of soft, rather thick stuff, a little larger than the asbestos, to allow for turning in. Asbestos, which transmits every little heat, will save the hands from that scorching tender feeling, which is the unpleasant consequence of using an ordinary holder.

RUGS

In these days of modern improvements and hard wood floors the carpet rug is in great favor. It is cheaper than the regular carpet and often times handsomer. Then again, it's nothing to put down; anyone can do it, and during house cleaning time the hardest task of all is entirely eliminated. Carpet Rugs are fashionable, and they've come to stay. Our exhibition embraces 200 or more patterns in Wiltons, Body Brussels, Tapestry Brussels and Smyrnas.

GENIUS.

At the Lambs' Club, one afternoon this week, someone complimenting Henry Blossom on the unprecedented hit of "The Red Mill," the new Blossom-Herbert musical comedy, with which the Knickerbocker-Blossom's fourth success, by the way—asked the author if he believed in the existence of the quality commonly called genius.

"Genius," answered Blossom, "is a bit of beeswax, stuck fast between the seat of a chair and one's—overall—until the work is done!"

A Striking Lesson.

The sad affair at Phillips Academy, last Saturday, should serve as an important lesson to the careless youths both of the Academy and the town. The feature of Andover celebrations for many years has been the unrestrained use of revolvers exploding blank cartridges. They have afforded a convenient medium for producing noise, and have been used almost universally. They have also been used carelessly, and the carelessness is undoubtedly responsible for the loss of a boy's life.

Just such affairs have occurred in many other places in the State, in the past, and the result of such occurrence was the enactment of a law at the last session of the legislature, which seeks to prevent free and promiscuous sporting of firearms in public. The text of the law is as follows:—

Section 1. The justice of a court, or trial justices, the board of police or mayor of a city, or the selectmen of a town, or persons authorized by them, respectively, may, upon the application of any person, issue a license to such person to carry a loaded pistol or revolver in this Commonwealth, if it appears that the applicant has good reason to fear an injury to his person or property, and that he is a suitable person to be so licensed.

Section 2. Whoever, except as provided by the laws of this Commonwealth, carries on his person a loaded pistol or revolver, without authority or permission as provided in section one of this act, or whoever carries any stiletto, dagger, dirk-knife, slung shot or metallic knuckles, shall upon conviction be punished by a fine of not less than ten nor more than one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Approved March 16, 1906.

In passing upon the shooting at Phillips, Judge Mahoney spoke very emphatically upon the importance of enforcing this law, and the duty of the local authorities would seem to be very clear. And it would seem to be equally clear that not only public places but private as well are within the scope of the law.

The lesson that is taught by the Phillips accident is a sad one, but it should be an impressive and useful one, and it is to be sincerely hoped that it will be learned by every boy in Andover.

Editorial Cinders.

The death of Rev. Charles H. Cullinan at Lawrence on Wednesday, came as a sudden shock to his large circle of friends and acquaintances in Andover. He was a young man of great promise, and had already made a warm place for himself in the affections of his parishioners at Lawrence. The sympathy of the community goes out to his family, particularly to those who had labored so long and earnestly to assist in providing the education and training for the foundation of Fr. Cullinan's promising career.

One of the town's nuisances that ought to be abated is that caused by the large congregation of loiterers around the front of the Memorial Hall Library. If they were all quiet and inoffensive, it would not be quite so serious, but when to their presence is added the tobacco spit and offensive language of loud and boisterous youths, they become a real nuisance. Steps should be taken to abate it.

Andover is making a pretty steady line of victories in her Exeter series, and that of Saturday was one of the most spectacular of the list. It was the same old story of success coming to the one who knows an advantage when it exists, and Andover shone resplendent in that test on Saturday.

It is certainly not out of place to call Uncle Sam's attention to the almost disreputable appearance of his mail boxes here in Andover. One and all are in sore need of new paint, and some hang to their posts sadly askew. Uncle Sam of all men should keep his works in apple pie order.

There is already a rumble that presages town politics, but isn't it just a little early? We are hardly through with our State election, and certainly have not yet had time to digest its full significance. The Christmas holidays may very well pass before we are induced to excite ourselves upon the next selectmen or pound keepers.

ACCIDENTAL SHOOTING

P. A. Student Fatally Injured Last Saturday Morning

An unfortunate fatal shooting accident took place in Andover Saturday. John J. B. C. Tracy, '10, of Mt. Vernon, New York, a student at Phillips Academy, was shot by his chum and classmate, Charles Edmund Riggs, '10, of Emporia, Kansas, at Riggs' room in the Cheever house at the junction of Main and School streets in Andover.

The shooting occurred just after chapel exercises at the academy this morning. Riggs went to his room and Tracy, who often accompanied him from chapel to recitations, went with him. As they entered the room a revolver was lying on the table.

It was a 32-calibre weapon and belonged to Riggs, who loaned it last night to a fellow student, Harry Hilton, who also roomed at the Cheever house. It had been returned by Hilton in Riggs' absence and Riggs remarked to Tracy: "Hilton has brought my revolver back." The two students were alone in the room and while engaged in a general conversation Riggs picked the revolver up and started to place it in his pocket, at the same time drawing a bunch of keys from his pocket with the other hand. Just then the revolver went off. The bullet struck Tracy in the mouth and he fell to the floor.

Riggs was so startled by what occurred that he says he cannot remember just what he did after that. He says another student came into the room and then went out and sent for physicians. He remembers that Tracy tried to reassure him, by saying that he must not worry as it would come out all right.

Dr. P. S. Page of the academy faculty was the first physician to arrive and he saw that there was no hope for Tracy. Dr. John P. Torrey, Dr. Charles E. Abbott and Dr. John A. Leitch also responded to the call for medical aid, but Tracy was beyond human aid.

Chief of Police William L. Frye of Andover was notified and also Medical Examiner George W. Dow of Lawrence. Riggs was taken into custody and arrangements were made to have him arraigned before Judge Mahoney in the Lawrence police court this noon. The greatest sympathy was manifested for Riggs by his fellow students. Principal A. E. Stearns of the academy immediately notified the relatives of both students of the unfortunate occurrence and did all he could to assist Riggs.

Riggs was taken to Lawrence at 11.30 and arraigned on a charge of manslaughter before Judge J. Mahoney. He pleaded not guilty.

There was no testimony concerning the shooting by the prosecution, Chief Frye simply telling about his finding the body of Tracy in Riggs' room at the Cheever house after the shooting. Dr. John P. Torrey of Andover testified to being called to attend Tracy, but that no medical aid could have saved his life, death being due to hemorrhage.

The story of Riggs was then taken. He said that he loaned his revolver Friday night to Harry Hilton, a schoolmate, and that when he came back to his room after chapel exercises Saturday morning he found the revolver had been returned. The weapon, which is of 32 calibre, was lying on a table. He said that Tracy, who frequently came to his room after chapel to accompany him to recitations, came in and was standing in the room with a book in his hand just before the shooting.

Riggs testified that he said to Tracy: "Hilton has brought my revolver back." Then he picked the revolver up and started to put it into a hip pocket with one hand while he drew out a bunch of keys with the other hand. The weapon went off suddenly and Tracy fell to the floor. Asked whether he called for help, Riggs said that he could not tell just what he did after Tracy fell, although he remembered that a student named Finch came into the room and then went out for doctors. Riggs said that he was trying to do all he could for Tracy and the wounded student said to him before he died: "Don't worry, old boy, I shall be all right."

Judge Mahoney showed that the evidence tended to show that the shooting was accidental but that he thought it best not to dispose of the case but to continue it until next Wednesday, as it was better to wait a few days in such a case before deciding it. He said that he wanted the testimony of Finch at the hearing on Wednesday.

He ordered Riggs held under $1000 until Wednesday and allowed him to go on the recognizance of Chief Frye of Andover.

Riggs is captain of his class team and Tracy played center on the same eleven. They had been chums all the year.

Judge J. J. Mahoney conducted a hearing Wednesday morning in Lawrence. The first witness examined was R. H. Finch, a student at the academy. He testified that he was in a room about 25 feet away from that occupied by Riggs at the time of the accident and was attracted by the sound of a shot. He went immediately to the room and there saw Tracy upon his knees on the floor with Charles Edmund Riggs standing over him. Riggs told him to summon Miss Cheever and a doctor which he did and Dr. P. S. Page responded.

Dr. Page testified that he arrived about five minutes after the shooting and that Tracy was unable to speak. He asked Riggs if he had talked with Tracy, and he replied that Tracy had said to him: "Don't worry, old man, it will come out all right." Dr. Page said that there were marks of powder upon Tracy's face, which might have been caused by his leaning over the desk at the time when the revolver went off.

Riggs appeared in court pale and evidently depressed greatly. He was accompanied by fellow students. He was not placed on the stand.

His Honor said he was fully satisfied as he was on Saturday, after hearing the story of Riggs, that the unfortunate affair was purely accidental, but that the dreadful occurrence was a warning to the public and the students in regard to the handling of firearms. He also referred to the fact that under the statute enacted last year it was necessary to obtain a license to carry firearms and that the students and the public generally should appreciate the fact.

The court found the defendant not guilty of manslaughter and discharged him.

The Y. M. C. A. Mission for Men.

During this week under the auspices of the local Y. M. C. A. League there have been held a series of meetings for men which have commanded the interest and attention of good audiences of young men. In spite of the many engagements the young men have turned out in no small numbers so that on Wednesday evening nearly 50 were present. With such tactful yet forceful and persuasive leadership in Sylvanus Everett Frohock (Phillips Academy '85) who is making the addresses, much good will be accomplished. Mr. Ernest Head of Lawrence assisted with solo selections each evening. With Mr. Frohock is associated the County secretary, Henry Israel, under whose supervision the local organization is conducted and who has charge of the details of this campaign.

On Sunday the Rev. C. C. Earle will be the speaker at the afternoon meeting which will be held at 3.30. Mr. Lewis E. Smith of Boston, the singer who assisted Dr. Pierce of Brockton, in the recent mission at the South church and who captured his hearers with his auto-harp accompaniments, will be on hand to augment the program. All men are most cordially invited.

The program of the week is as follows: Monday night, November 12, "The Wonderful So." Tuesday night, November 13, "How to Obtain a Great Salvation." Wednesday night, November 14, "How to Keep it." Thursday night, November 15, "Put up a Great Fight." Friday night, November 16, "Get a Great Victory."

Social at Free Church.

Although the weather was unusually disagreeable last night, there was a large attendance at the supper and social in the Free church. The affair was under the charge of the division representing Summer and Elm streets, Maple avenue and Abbott Village. From 6.30 to 7.30 a fine supper was served, during which the Florella trio rendered several selections. This was followed by the entertainment of the evening, which consisted of a violin solo by Mira Wilson, selections by the Florella trio, and a play in two acts, entitled "An Automatic Servant Girl". This was very nicely executed and provoked much applause. Those who took part were Miss Jean Dundas, Charles Riddock, and Roy W. Lindsay. At the close of the entertainment games were enjoyed for some time.

Break at the Phillips Inn.

The Andover police have been notified that sneak thieves entered a room in Phillips Inn, Saturday afternoon, during the progress of the Andover-Exeter football game and stole considerable jewelry belonging to Robert Snow, a guest at the Inn. The jewelry was in a case and consisted of rings, pins and other small articles, valued in all about $250.

Chief Frye has sent a description of the jewelry to the police of Boston and other cities in the hope of its being recovered from pawn shops.

The theft of a diamond scarf pin valued at $300 has also been reported to Chief Frye by a New York man who came on to see the game. He says that the pin must have been snatched from his tie as he was leaving the field after the game.

Obituary.

MRS. PERSIS M. BLISS.

Mrs. Persis M. Bliss, mother of Postmaster Arthur Bliss, passed away at her home, 32 Elm street, on Monday evening after a short illness, at the age of 83 years and 8 months.

She was born in Methuen and was the daughter of Amos Morse who was a resident of West Andover many years. Her husband died in Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1863, and since then she had lived with her son in Andover.

Mrs. Bliss was loved and respected by a large circle of friends for her genial disposition and her smiling face and cheering word will be missed by many. She was a home loving woman always watching for chances to do comforting acts to those who were near and dear to her and ever ready to stretch forth a helping hand to friend and stranger alike.

Besides her son with whom she has resided so long she is survived by four grandchildren, Miss Nellie Bliss, Arthur Bliss, Jr., William C. Bliss and Miss Agnes Spinnay.

The funeral was held Thursday at 10.30 o'clock at 32 Elm street, Rev. Frederic Palmer of Christ church conducting the services. Burial took place in the family lot in the Episcopal cemetery.

CHAS. H. CULLINANE

The parishioners of the Immaculate Conception Church in Lawrence, and relatives and friends in Andover were startled early Wednesday evening, when a rumor reached them that Rev. Chas. H. Cullinane, O. S. A., for the past two years in charge of the church in Lawrence, had suddenly passed away at the parochial residence.

Few, if any, could believe the rumor but when it became generally known that the good priest had gone to his eternal rest, the feeling of uncertainty changed to one of the most poignant sorrow and grief for in the short time that his parishioners had been under his care the presence of Fr. Cullinane had always been a source of great comfort to them and his priestly zeal and fatherly devotion for both their spiritual and material welfare had won for him in their hearts, more and respect which will long remain, as a silent reminder of him who had devoted his life to the service of his Maker.

For some time past Fr. Cullinane had been in ill health, but although he at times suffered intensely he was always on duty. He attended to his sacred offices as usual Tuesday and Wednesday morning. His absence at the supper table that evening was noted, and when Fr. O'Reilly went to his room after the meal, he found Fr. Cullinane very weak and to all appearance breathing his last. Medical aid was at once summoned and his brothers in religion gathered about his bed and chanted the prayers for the dying, while Fr. O'Reilly administered the last rites of the Catholic church. Extreme unction had scarcely been given when the dying priest calmly, and with a last prayer of resignation on his lips passed beyond the cares and vicissitudes of this world.

Rev. Charles H. Cullinane, for 18 years a member of the Order of St. Augustine, was born in Andover, Jan. 14, 1866. His early education was received in the public schools of his native town, graduating from Pynchard in the Class of 1884. He then took a two years' course at Phillips Academy, when he was a star full back on the team of 1885. In the Exeter game of that year he won the game for Andover. With the score of eight to six in favor of the New Hampshire team and only four minutes to play in the last half, full back Cullinane dropped a pretty goal and won the game for Andover, 11 to 8. On August 28, 1885, he was received into the Augustinian order at Villanova college.

Having completed his novitiate he was ordained to the holy priesthood in Philadelphia, March 15, 1890. His first assignment was to Mechanicsville, N. Y., where he served about six years. He was then transferred to Philadelphia and remained there four years. For a short period he was assistant pastor in Lansingburg, N. Y., until the middle of July, 1902, when he was assigned to Lawrence.

Courteous Circle

Benediction.

At three o'clock a reception was held to Mrs. Whitney, who was the honored guest of the convention and Mrs. Emery, the leader of the Merrimack Valley circle.

The reception committee consisted of Misses Madeline Hewes, Helen White, Sallie Pratt and Mrs. Herbert F. Chase.

At 3.30 the meeting in the auditorium was held, and at the beginning Mrs. Whitney said that she had the very painful announcement to make that Mrs. Margaret Bottomo, one of the founders and noble workers of the King's Daughters, had passed away at her home in New York on Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Whitney paid a glowing tribute to the deceased in her work for the order, and for people in all conditions and walks of life. She told of the great intimacy between Mrs. Bottomo and herself, and what a great friend she had been to her.

In the absence of Mrs. Leslie of Lawrence, Mrs. Stork of Lowell extended the greetings of the league in a well delivered speech. She alluded to the connection between Mrs. Whitney of far away Michigan and the sisters of New England, alluding to the intimacy of one with another.

Mrs. Whitney responded by saying that she was closer to New England and even Andover than Mrs. Stork supposed, for Jonathan Edwards was her great-grandfather and her own father was a graduate of the Andover Theological Seminary.

Mrs. Whitney then gave an excellent address on the Order in various parts of this country and in other countries, giving several instances of the fine work done by various circles. She told of many fine acts of missionaries through work in the King's Daughters. Advice was given as to the ways which one can give themselves to the order either through money, advice, time, prayer, etc.

She took a wheel as an example to illustrate a circle, taking the rim as the members, the spokes as the officers and the hub as the leader. She said that sometimes the rim gets rusty, the spokes loosen and everything depends on the hub. She said that some circles in their work were just like the latter, the members getting a little rusty in attendance or assistance, the officers shaky in regard to their parts of the affairs of the circle and the heavy load rests on the hub.

At the close of the address Mrs. Whitney answered many questions which were sent in by the members of the league and answered them in a very satisfactory manner. In the absence of Mrs. F. G. Moore, Miss Mabel Carter rendered the solo of the afternoon.

The business of the convention was then transacted and officers for the current year were elected as follows: vice leader, Mrs. F. H. Foster, Andover; Miss Harriett Walworth, Lawrence, secretary; Miss Fannie Wing, Haverhill, treasurer.

At the close of the afternoon session a fine supper was served in the vestry which was followed by a social chat.

The evening meeting began at seven o'clock when a very interesting illustrated lecture was given by Mrs. Whitney on the fine work which the order is doing all over the world, erecting homes for the aged men and women, hospitals for incurables, schools for children and homeless, besides hundreds of other things for the poor, sick and wayward. In some of the pictures the members of the Courteous circle recognized places which had been helped by them. The lecture was cut short so as to allow those who wished to catch early cars for their homes.

A collection was taken for Mrs. Whitney's work and after the Courteous circle had sung "Lend a Hand" the convention was brought to a close.

SUGGESTION FOR REMOVAL

President of University of Illinois invites the Seminary to the Middle West

A renewal of the discussion as to the future of Andover Theological Seminary and the agitation of the question of its removal from Andover has been started by a letter sent to the trustees of the institution by President Edmund J. James of the University of Illinois, suggesting the removal to the Middle West.

Such a plan is regarded as out of the question as terms under which the trust funds were given prevent the removal of the institution from the state. In order to go out of the state it would be necessary to secure special legislation with the unanimous consent of the alumni, which is plainly impossible as there is strong opposition among the alumni even to removing the seminary to Cambridge or Boston.

The letter of President Edmund J. James of the University of Illinois to the board of trustees is as follows:

"Gentlemen:

"I understand that you are discussing the advisability of relocating the Andover Theological Seminary.

"Permit me to urge upon your attention the following considerations in favor of choosing a site in immediate proximity to one of the great state universities of the Mississippi valley.

"It seems as if the day of the independent theological school, that is, the theological school out of all relation and connection with colleges and universities, is passing away. A theological school which cuts itself off from the possibilities of intimacy with the scientific world which is represented par excellence in the organization of our great universities, deprives itself of some of the most potent advantages and opportunities which are open to it, and limits its activity in a way which is injurious first of all to itself and then, through that fact, to the general interests of the community.

"If our churches desire to maintain an adequate supply of educated clergy and that they should do so is certainly a matter of fundamental importance to our society—it would seem to be a measure dictated by the plainest consideration of prudence to bring their training schools for the church into the closest possible connection with those great institutions of learning to which the youth of our country are resorting in ever increasing numbers.

"It is now perfectly apparent that the most populous centres of higher instruction in the Mississippi valley will be found in the near future at our state universities, which are growing with such enormous rapidity throughout the states of this great territory. Here will soon be found larger aggregations of the youth of this great nation than will be found in any other equal number of similar institutions.

"There are, for example, in Urbana-Champaign, at the University of Illinois, some 2500 young men pursuing one or another of the courses offered in the institution. This number, if it continues to increase in the next 10 years as it has in the last 10, will easily reach 5000. Among these students will be found a larger proportion of the men who will make their marks on the life of the coming generation in this and neighboring commonwealths than in any other centre of learning in the state, if for no other reason, because the numbers are larger and are destined to increase with every passing year.

"In this large number of young men there is a very considerable percentage who, by tastes, talents and spirituality, would properly and naturally take up the ministry if their attention were

COMMERCIALFish on Harriman's Hook.

In the election of James T. Harahan as president of the Illinois Central railroad by a vote of 8 to 4 in a special meeting of the directors at New York came the climax of the financial rivalry between E. H. Harriman and Stuyvesant Fish. Thus Harriman realized his ambition to control a transcontinental railroad system, the Illinois Central being the one missing link in making such a system profitable. Harahan had been vice president for sixteen years during the time that Fish was president of the Illinois Central.

This turn of events is generally understood to be in the nature of revenge on Harriman's part for the insistence of Fish upon a rigid investigation of the Mutual Life Insurance company's affairs, although the gossip says that it was due in part to the jealousy felt by Mrs. Astor and Mrs. Vanderbilt toward Mrs. Fish in regard to society matters.

The unified Harriman system furnishes an Atlantic coast outlet for both Union Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads by way of the Baltimore and Ohio and Illinois Central. It puts under one man's control 23,000 miles of track, capitalized at more than $1,700,000,000.

Friends of Mr. Fish say that he questions the legality of Harahan's election and that he will contest the matter in the courts on the ground that a majority of the directors are not residents of Illinois, as required by the state laws. The statements signed by the Harahan directors sharply criticized Fish for having arrogated to himself the duties of protecting stockholders and serving the public. It charged him with being unable to distinguish between the duties of president and directors.

Mutual Life Fights McCurdy.

The motion of the Mutual Life Insurance company to compel its former president, Richard A. McCurdy, to restore $3,370,341, alleged to have been paid out during his administration of the company for political purposes, was granted by Justice Bischoff of the supreme court at New York.

The Horseshoeing Trust.

The United Horseshoeing company has been incorporated at Trenton, N. J., with a capital stock of $2,000,000. The company will operate a chain of shops and deal in tools pertaining to the trade.

Pennsylvania's Fiftieth Dividend.

At the close of the fiftieth year of consecutive payments of dividends the Pennsylvania Railroad company placed its stock upon a 7 per cent basis, which is 1 per cent higher than has been paid since 1900. As the capital of the company has grown the number of stockholders has increased to about 45,000.

Prosperity of Steel Trust.

The directors of the United States Steel corporation at their regular quarterly meeting continued the dividends on the common stock at the annual rate of 2 per cent. They reported net earnings greater than for any similar quarter in the history of the company and more unfilled orders on hand than ever before. The net earnings for the quarter were $38,114,624, and the unfilled orders were for 7,936,834 tons. Chairman Gary said that the company would begin steel manufacturing at the new town of Gary in the spring of 1908. He said that the plant at that point would cost $75,000,000 or so much more as may be necessary.

LABORBig Wage Raise on P. R. R.

The board of directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad company has authorized a general 10 per cent advance in wages for all permanent employees receiving less than $200 a month, to go into effect Dec. 1. This wage increase will affect 179,458 workers. The directors state that this advance is due to the increased cost of living and the present great prosperity of the country, which has made it possible to distribute larger dividends to stockholders. On the Pennsylvania lines east of Pittsburgh, Erie and Buffalo a 10 per cent advance was made in 1902, but these men also will share the present 10 per cent advance. On the lines west of Pittsburgh 50,000 men will benefit. The annual disbursement of wages under the new schedule of the Pennsylvania system will be about $135,000,000.

Switchmen Accept Compromise.

The general strike of switchmen on all of the twenty-three railroads entering Chicago was called off pending further negotiations between the union and the managers. They accepted an advance of 3 cents an hour, leaving 3 cents more to arbitration.

"Injunction Made of Lead."

President John A. Peaton of the Penton Publishing company of Cleveland, O., last week distributed loaded revolvers among his employees and instructed them to shoot to kill if they were attacked by union labor pickets, saying, "We have issued an injunction that's made of lead and can't be modified." He added that the company would stand by the men in case their gun work resulted in damage. Before taking this action Mr. Peaton notified the city authorities of his intention. The chief of police said that no action would be taken against the men for carrying concealed weapons.

Iron Workers to Get More.

In addition to the recently announced advance of wages of the Reading railway, the Reading Iron company has given notice that its 5,000 employees, in all departments of the big plants at Reading, Pa., and elsewhere would be increased so as to conform to the increased cost of living and improved market conditions.

INDUSTRIALGreat Water Power Project.

Former Governor Herrick of Ohio and Thomas P. Walsh of Denver have formed a $9,000,000 syndicate for the purpose of harnessing the mountain streams of the Rockies for long distance transmission so as to revolutionize western industries. John Hayes Hammond has been employed as chief engineer. Herrick predicts that in ten years every railroad crossing the mountains will use electrical power generated by falling water.

Gary to Be Model City.

George W. Perkins, with the support of E. H. Gary and other officials of the steel trust, is planning to make the new flat city of Gary, in Indiana, where the biggest steel plant in the world is to be erected, a full fledged experiment in municipal ownership. Mr. Perkins says that the government will be arranged so that the citizens can have their own way about any question that may come up "aside from what the Steel corporation desires." He says he has often dreamed of a place where the interests of one would be the interests of all and where there would be no strife or intrigue.

FOREIGNIncome Tax For Russia.

The council of ministers has approved the adoption of the income tax measure proposed by the minister of finance, which is expected to produce a revenue of $20,000,000 a year.

Education Bill Amended.

The house of lords by a vote of 137 to 46 altered the education bill so as to provide that local authorities must extend facilities for religious instruction instead of merely giving permission to do so.

China's Cabinet Appointed.

An imperial edict was issued at Peking on Nov. 8 approving a constitutional government, and the members of a new reformed cabinet were named with Prince Ching at the head.

Socialists Against Armies.

The Socialist congress at Limoges, France, rejected a motion favoring insurrection on the part of conscripts in case of war and adopted one calling on the soldiers of all nations to seek the suppression of standing armies through legislation.

Against Municipal Socialism.

The interpretation of the recent municipal elections in England held by the Unionists is that they prove a strong anti-socialist feeling and a decided setback for labor candidates and municipal socialism. The latter had held the balance of power in London for three years.

Cuban Rural Guard Extended.

Governor Magoon announced that it was deemed best to increase the rural guard so that country roads as well as city streets might be constantly patrolled to prevent robbery and disorder. In Santa Clara province an armed band under Colonels Sanchez and Jimenez are encamped under the American flag, declaring their purpose to support American annexation.

SCIENTIFICFeatures of Peary's Dash.

Later messages from Commander Peary to President Jesup of the Peary Arctic club told how he had reached Hopedale, Labrador, and was having his steamer, the Roosevelt, repaired and ballasted. The return voyage from the farthest north point ever reached by a human being had been one of incessant struggle with ice floes, storms and head winds. Two rudders, stern post, two blades of propeller, four topmasts, sparker boom and one boat had been carried away, and he had been obliged to use interior portions of the ship to keep the fires going after the fuel supply was all exhausted. Peary also announced his purpose to make another attempt to reach the pole after getting fresh supplies and making repairs. His dash was impeded by several tons of poisonous dog meat and the loss of other supplies by breaking of ice. Mrs. Peary, who started with her son to meet the explorer at Sydney or farther north, said no words could express her elation and happiness over the fact that her husband was "the hero of the most successful polar expedition in the history of the world."

Mrs. Peary.

One important scientific result of this expedition is the exclusion of the theory of palaeocrystic sea. This theory arose from the observation of peculiar floe ice in the ocean north of Grant Land by the British expedition under Captain Nares in 1876; hence the name of this part of the Arctic ocean, which means a sea of ancient ice. It was thought that it was covered with an expanse of enormously thick ice and that the sea was shallow, the floes resting on the bottom. Peary found the floe ice thick, but not of the ancient variety supposed by Nares. The ice as a sledge route failed him utterly, as it broke up into big and little islands under an unusually mild winter. Peary and his party saved their lives by converting eight dogs into food.

A Wireless Telephone.

A lieutenant of the Swedish army is credited with having evolved a practical wireless telephone, and the Swedish papers announce that a public demonstration will be given next month at Copenhagen.

A Tubeless Telescope.

A telescope consisting of but one lens and consequently named the "uni lens," the invention of Major Baden-Powell of the British army, is an application of a familiar principle. It consists of a convex lens two and a half inches wide, with a focal length of six feet. This, mounted at the end of a stick, magnifies distant objects about four diameters.

Scaled Mount McKinley.

Dr. Frederick A. Cook of Brooklyn, the explorer and mountain climber, returned to Seattle with his party, having made the ascent of Mount McKinley in Alaska. He verified the height as given by the government—namely, 20,300 feet. He also opened up a new region of about 3,000 miles known as the Yentia district.

Exclusive Wireless System.

An entirely new system of wireless telegraphy was submitted to the recent international wireless conference at Berlin. This is the invention of Vladimir Poulsen of Copenhagen, and its chief feature is the substitution of a continuous flow of Hertzian waves for the old method of intermittent sparks. This is said to solve the much vexed question of intervention between stations working simultaneously. Practically any number of stations within range of each other may now operate without interference, and one can communicate with another without interrupting other lines of communication.

EDUCATIONALSenior Wrangler Abolished.

By the vote of 206 to 169 the senate of Oxford university, England, has discontinued the publication of the names of students in the mathematical tripos in the order of merit, and hereafter there will be no "senior wrangler."

Homemade Text Books Barred.

The New York city board of education has decided to prohibit the use of all text books prepared by teachers in the city's employ. This will bar out Conrade's grammar and Borachio's song collection. Only one member of the board voted against this action.

Fraternity Discrimination Upheld.

A decision of the supreme court of Washington upholds the policy of the Seattle school authorities in denying all privileges except class attendance to pupils who are members of secret or Greek letter fraternities. The members had been prohibited from belonging to debating clubs, athletic teams, glee clubs and the like. The court says the evidence shows, that such fraternities tend to destroy good order, discipline and scholarship in the schools.

U. of P. Degrees For Women.

The University of Pennsylvania has decided to become a coeducational institution by conferring full degrees upon women students, provided, however, that the classes for women and for men are arranged separately. The new rules will go into effect after Jan. 1.

MISCELLANEOUSBlamed For Drawbridge Wreck.

A coroner's jury after considering for a week the evidence connected with the wreck of the Pennsylvania electric train which went off a drawbridge at Atlantic City, Oct. 28, causing the death of fifty-seven persons, brought in a verdict laying the blame on the bridge tender, Daniel Stewart. This was in spite of the fact that a disinterested engineer had testified that the accident was due to a loose rail. This virtually convicts the railroad company of neglect and makes it open to attack. The arrest of Stewart was left to the county prosecutor.

Held For Criminal Anarchy.

Emma Goldman, the leading factor of the American anarchistic propaganda, together with ten boys and girls charged with participating in a meeting where the discussion of McKinley's assassination was in progress, has been held for trial by Magistrate Cornell of New York under the new law which was passed after the death of President McKinley. Some of them were charged with disseminating anarchistic literature.

Wisconsin Almost Taxless.

The increased taxation of corporations, together with payment of claims to the amount of $1,000,000, has so swelled the treasury of Wisconsin that no general state tax is to be levied this year, and even the one mill school tax is to be cut in two.

Deaths.

Dr. Edwin E. Beeman, who made millions by the manufacture of pepsin chewing gum, died at his home in Cleveland.

Fritz Thawlow, the Norwegian landscape painter, died at Christiania on Nov. 5.

John H. Ketcham, father of the house of representatives, who had been nominated by the Republicans of the Twenty-first New York district nineteen times, died in a New York hospital.

FEARFUL PAINS

SUGGESTIONS HOW WOMEN MAY FIND RELIEF.

While no woman is entirely free from periodical suffering, it does not seem to be the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely. This is a severe strain on a woman's vitality. When pain exists something is wrong, which should be set right or it will lead to a serious derangement of the whole female organism.

Thousands of women have testified in grateful letters to Mrs. Pinkham that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound overcomes woman's special pains and irregularities.

It provides a safe and sure way of escape from distressing and dangerous weaknesses and diseases.

The two following letters tell so convincingly what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will do for women, they cannot fail to bring hope to thousands of sufferers.

Miss Nellie Holmes, of 540 N. Division Street, Buffalo, N. Y., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—Your medicine is indeed an ideal medicine for women. I suffered misery for years with painful periods, headaches, and bearing-down pains. I consulted two different physicians but failed to get any relief. A friend from the east advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so, and no longer suffer as I did before. My periods are natural; every ache and pain is gone, and my general health is much improved. I advise all women who suffer to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Tillie Hart, of Larimore, N. D., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I might have been spared many months of suffering and pain had I only known of the efficacy of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

METHUEN.METHUEN IN LEAGUE.

The Merrimack Valley Cricket league was organized Saturday afternoon in the Lincoln club rooms in Lowell.

Delegates were present from these clubs: Lawrence and Merrimack of Lawrence; Methuen, Andover, Mohair and Zion of Lowell; North Billerica and Moore Spinning of North Chelmsford; Arthur Hindle of the Zion club, Lowell, called the meeting to order and William Croft, Sr., of the same club, was chosen chairman. Herbert Rowley of Hunting was elected secretary.

The opposition to the formation of the league came from the Merrimack club. On the question of forming a permanent organization six clubs voted in favor, one against and the Mohair and Lawrence clubs' representatives did not vote.

Following were the officers chosen: Arthur Hindle, Zion, president; John L. Pye, Methuen, vice-president; Frank L. Harrison, Bunting, secretary; Edward J. Garner, North Billerica, treasurer. The newly elected officers were appointed a committee to draft rules for governing the new league.

MR. SEARLES BUYS MANY FARMS.

WINDHAM, N. H., Nov. 10.—Edward F. Searles, the Methuen, (Mass.) multi-millionaire, whose estate borders on the New Hampshire line, has been quietly buying up farms in Salem and Windham until he is now one of the largest holders of improved land in the state.

Farm after farm has passed into his possession, until he can go for miles into this state without leaving his own premises.

His betterment of the acquired property has usually been prompt and substantial.

In Windham, where several of his farms are located, is a schoolhouse lot and two roads leading to it from different directions. As these were public property, Searles made the town a proposition to purchase a schoolhouse lot in another section and build thereon a building satisfactory to any town committee, and also offered to construct two new places of highway which would accommodate travel much better than the old roads. If it would give the old property up to him.

Last Tuesday the first part of the proposition came before the town school district at a largely attended special meeting, and the question of discontinuing the roads was acted on at the town meeting in the afternoon of the same day.

Although a few were strongly opposed to the changes, both propositions were carried by an overwhelming vote after spirited discussions and the town authorities were instructed to make the necessary conveyance.

ITALIANS INJURED.

A premature discharge of powder, which was being used to blast rock on the farm of Frank De Quarto, in Pleasant Valley district, East Methuen, seriously injured two Italians, Giovanni De Benedetto and Michael Feroce, Wednesday afternoon. The men were removed to the Lawrence General hospital where their injuries were treated.

The farm, where the accident occurred, was formerly owned by Philip Grosse, who sold it recently to De Quarto, and the latter began the work of erecting a stone house thereon. In order to secure the stone the contract was awarded to a contractor. The men employed by the latter were engaged all day in blasting rocks and shortly after dinner started work on a particularly large rock. A part of Compound sooner, for I have tried so many remedies without help.

"I dreaded the approach of every month, as it meant so much pain and suffering for me, but after I had used the Compound two months I became regular and natural and am now perfectly well and free from pain. I am very grateful for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."

Such testimony should be accepted by all women as convincing evidence that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound stands without a peer as a remedy for all the distressing ills of women.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound rests upon the well-earned gratitude of American women.

When women are troubled with pain or irregularities, displacements or ulceration of the organs, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation, backache, bloating (or flatulency) general debility, indigestion and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.

Don't hesitate to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about your sickness you do not understand. She will treat you with kindness and her advice is free. No woman ever regretted writing her and she has helped thousands. Address Lynn, Mass.

FASTENED IN ANIMAL'S CAGE.

An incident, which might have been serious but for outside aid, occurred at Glen Forest yesterday afternoon. Two men, residents of the west part of Methuen, were walking through the woods near Glen Forest when a boy came to them and asked them to go to Glen Forest and help get some boys out of an animal's cage. The men went as requested, and found three boys in one of the cages. The wire had been let down and fastened so that it was impossible for them to get out. It took the united efforts of the two men and boys 20 minutes to release the prisoners. The boys said that they had been put there by three other boys, who had taken a gun which one had away, and had been standing guard near them to see that they did not get out. Two of the boys were nearby when the men approached, but fled, and could not be captured. They belonged in Lawrence. What the result might have been had the men not gone to the rescue is problematical as it would have been impossible for the boys on the outside to have released the prisoners even had they been so minded.

Suggestions for Removal

called to the matter at the critical time in the proper way, and if they were led to consider the great importance of this profession to the community and their own fitness for the work. If every young man in our society were so placed that in the course of his education the question would present itself to him naturally and inevitably, "Ought I to enter the ministry?" there would be no lack of candidates. This work of presenting the claims of the ministry upon the attention of our young men, only the church can undertake. But this may be done—and oftentimes more strongly and successfully—in many other ways than by direct solicitation. The silent appeal contained in the mere existence of such a school in close proximity to the other great schools of a university where every day the student will run up against some evidence of its activity and importance; the powerful, though often unnoticed, impression made by the active and earnest effort of those young men who are preparing for the ministry; intercourse with these same men in all the different activities of university life; the sight of the buildings and libraries devoted to this purpose; the lectures and addresses which such a school will necessarily provide in the ordinary conduct of this work, would all help toward this same end.

"I cannot help feeling that the church, using that term in a large sense, is losing one of the greatest opportunities of the present day in not planting itself in the form of an educational institution, firmly and positively in the closest proximity to these great aggregations of students, with the idea of winning over to its service at least its fair proportion of this young and promising material.

"Such a board of trustees as your honorable body, with your traditions, your opportunities, your pecuniary resources, could organize an institution under the very shadows of the state university which would do for the church what no other equal expenditure of money could accomplish.

"The effect of such an institution, properly equipped and properly conducted, upon the university in general would be good, and thus a real additional service would be done for the community.

"It would be a standing reminder to the university world—students and professors alike—of the great importance of the profession to whose service it is dedicated. Aside from the fact noted above, that the existence of this institution in close proximity to the state university would tend, on the one hand, to get the attention of that element in the student body which ought properly to look forward to this career, there would be the further advantage on the other hand to the students of the theological school itself of immediate contact with the world and with life under auspices best adapted to enlarge their view and to prepare them to play the part which the educated clergy ought to take in the life of every society.

"A theological school itself, as such, could not, of course, become a part of the state university. It would be better for it and its own work that it should not, but the students of the theological school would have the advantage of the library and laboratories and equipment of the university on exactly the same terms as other students. They would have the advantages of the courses in science, in economics, in sociology, in history and other subjects by the mere process of enrolling as students in the university.

"They would have the still greater advantage of living in an atmosphere of reality and life, instead of the semi-monastic conditions of an independent theological school.

"No thoughtful man will underestimate the power and value of an educated and enlightened clergy in such a community as ours. Every thoughtful man must grieve, if for any reason the culture or training or ability or number of these men seem to be declining. At present no one can read the accounts of the difficulties which our theological schools and our churches have in recruiting their candidates for the ministry, without feeling that something is radically wrong. The ministry ought to attract a large number of the very best young men of every generation. I believe that the connection of the theological schools themselves with the centers where life will contribute to increasing the number of such candidates, and to the better training of those who have already chosen the career, there are a few men who are drawn so naturally and powerfully to this career that they will seek it out and follow it in spite of all difficulties and all discouragement and all opposition. But aside from these, if you wish young men to take up this great calling, you must get after them in earnest, and in order to reach them you must go where they are. A very considerable number will be found today in the great state universities of the Mississippi Valley, and this number will increase with every passing year.

"New England no longer needs the Andover Theological Seminary. It has a sufficient number of such schools without it. The Mississippi valley does need it, and needs it sorely; i. e. it needs such a school as the Andover seminary may easily become.

"You gentlemen are in a position to initiate today a work somewhat similar in importance to that which was accomplished by a group of devoted men at New Haven in the twenties of the last century. They organized a missionary educational movement, which resulted in the creation of a large number of excellent colleges in the Mississippi valley, thus setting an example which other people followed to the great good of this region and this nation. You may set an example here and now in this field of education which other boards may follow, and thus lead to that readjustment of our educational system to the conditions of modern life which is demanded alike by the interests of church and state.

Faithfully yours,
"EDMUND J. JAMES."

The present board of trustees of the Andover Seminary consists of President George Harris, D. D., of Amherst, Principal Alfred E. Stearns of Andover, James C. Sawyer of Andover, the Rev. Alexander McKenzie, D. D., of Cambridge, the Rev. James G. Vose, D. D., of Providence, R. I., George B. Knapp of Boston, Prof. James Hardy Ropes, D. D., of Cambridge, Clarence Morgan of Burlington, Vt., Prof. Charles O. Day, D. D., of Andover, Prof. Clifford H. Moore of Cambridge, Alfred L. Ripley of Andover and Henry L. Stimson of New York City. President Harris is now spending his sabbatical year in Paris.

"It really rests with the alumni," said the Rev. Alexander McKenzie of the First Church, Cambridge.

He said that the trustees had been considering the relocating of the Andover Seminary for five years, and that a plan had been drawn up and approved by them to bring it to Cambridge, in connection with Harvard.

The trustees had conferred with President Eliot, who had approved of the plan, but before taking any action they deemed it advisable to submit the proposition to the alumni.

It is felt that Cambridge would be the most suitable place for the location of the seminary, not only on account of its historical associations in connection with Puritanism and Congregationalism, but because of the drawing power of Harvard University. The idea is that while the seminary, if situated in Cambridge, would have its own faculty and its own course of instruction, its degrees would be given by Harvard. The experience of other theological seminaries shows that the students of such schools are in close proximity or practically affiliated with some large university. It is intimated that the trustees' plan for this move may be made public shortly.

"The arguments advanced by President James of the University of Illinois are well founded, but there are objections considerable that the plan can scarcely be favorably regarded," explained Mr. McKenzie.

Each of the trustees of the seminary received a copy of the open letter sent by President James of the University of Illinois, but they have not yet considered it as a body or officially.

"I do not think that any answer will be given to President James publicly," said Prof. J. H. Ropes, another of the trustees.

George B. Knapp of Auburndale, one of the trustees, would give no opinion upon the subject when seen last night.

"I am not a clerical member of the board of trustees," he said, "and cannot tell you what is likely to be done. The matter will require much consideration and I presume it will depend upon what the alumni association does."

The Rev. James G. Vose stated at Providence yesterday. This question of removal has been discussed on many occasions. It was talked over among the trustees quite recently, and while a preference was expressed for a change of base to Yale, it was a preference only, for there are insurmountable obstacles to its removal to any place. It will be an impossibility to remove the seminary out of the state of Massachusetts. I am not prepared to say, offhand, whether the obstacle include a prohibitive clause in the charter, but there are funds which have been given in trust, which were there a change of location, "would probably lead the way of the donors to demand that the funds be returned to them. I should say that there are legal obstacles which will prevent us from doing that which President James has asked. The trustees of the seminary and of the academy are one and the same, and if it is decided advisable to dispose of the seminary property, it could be sold to the academy for a better price than we could obtain elsewhere, but I do not anticipate that it will be sold."

ESSEX AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY MEETING.

PEABODY, Nov. 15.—The trustees of the Essex Agricultural Society at their meeting in the court room, Town hall, at which Sherman Nelson of Georgetown presided, in the absence of President Russell revised the premium list for 1907. Only a few changes were made, among them being the elimination of game birds and bantams from premium competition. The executive committee on the last fair reported, and some comments were made on the expenses, especially the cost of advertising, which was larger than in previous years. The figures presented showed that 12,000 admission tickets were sold, 3,000 of them being sold at the hall and the remainder at the grounds.

It was admitted that mistake had probably been made in reducing the price of admission to 15 cents to the hall and the same to the grounds, instead of charging 25 cents for a double ticket admitting to both places. This change was made mainly for the purpose of keeping noisy boys, who would obtain possession of the hall tickets from those who went to the grounds and did not care to visit the hall, out of the hall, and that end was accomplished, as there were being sold more tickets sold at the hall to make up the reduction in price.

The total receipts at the fair were $253.48, divided as follows: From sale of tickets, $227.77; ground rentals, $552; hall privileges, $23; interest, $1.71. The expenses were about $2500, and the balance about $350, together with $600 received from the state, is all that is left to meet the premiums which amount to $1190. This shows a deficit of about $210, to which must be added the printing of the annual transactions, and other permanent expenses, so that there will be an actual shortage for the year of $400 or $500.

The question of reducing the length of the fair from three to two days was discussed, and a motion made that it be done, but it was stated that such a scheme would not be practical, as the exhibits are used up in arranging and judging the exhibits, and the last day in taking them away. It was also stated that the saving would be much less than one-third, the expense for the three days. The motion to make the change was lost. It was voted that hereafter the poultry show be given on the fair grounds and that the use of the Town hall be abandoned. The cost of the indoor exhibit at the hall, the band concert given there evenings during the fair, and other expenses connected with its use, was not warranted by its receipts. It is probable that the poultry building will be turned into an exhibition hall, and the poultry displayed in a tent, or a portion of the horse building, the arrangements to be worked out by the executive committee.

W. S. Nichols, treasurer of the society, presented his report, showing a balance on hand of $171.42, but $1100 was borrowed during the year. In reply to a question, he stated that the society was running behind $600 or $700 every year, and it was only a question of time how long it could continue. He had not been present at the opening of the me fair, and did not know what had been said, but he was of the opinion that there was something wrong in the management, and he could not understand where the money went. This year the weather had been perfect during the fair, the attendance large and everything was favorable for its success, yet the expenses were more, than the receipts, and until this year he had never seen any bills which showed where the money went.

It was at this point that a decisive step was taken by the trustees, which forebodes either good or ill for the society's future. At the suggestion of Treasurer Nichols, who had talked over the matter with President Russell and Secretary Danforth, both of whom approved of the plan, it was voted that the stocks owned by the society be sold, and that the proceeds be used in paying off the debt, and the real estate be mortgaged to pay the balance. The carrying out of this vote was left with the president, secretary and treasurer.

Mr. Nichols stated that the stocks were all national bankstocks, which he forebodes either good or ill for the society's future. At the suggestion of Treasurer Nichols, who had talked over the matter with President Russell and Secretary Danforth, both of whom approved of the plan, it was voted that the stocks owned by the society be sold, and that the proceeds be used in paying off the debt, and the real estate be mortgaged to pay the balance. The carrying out of this vote was left with the president, secretary and treasurer.

The carrying out of this vote was left with the president, secretary and treasurer.

It can readily be seen that when this change is made, if the fair continues to lose $600 or $700 a year, the equity in the real estate will soon be wiped out, and the old society will have to abandon the fair for a period of time, at least. It was suggested by W. S. Hughes of North Andover that the fair might be tried in some other place for a year or two, and he named Lawrence as a very available place, where a movement was now on foot to start a society.

FOR INFLAMED EYES.

If you have strained your eyes by reading too long by artificial light or by the waning daylight, which is worse, bathe your eyes every morning with water, in which you have dissolved table salt, in proportion, a teaspoonful to a quart of water, keeping the eyes open; it will not smart like plain water.

Dissolve a teaspoonful of boracic acid powder in a half pint of boiling water, place in a bottle and keep tightly corked. Every night before retiring drop a few drops of this in your eyes with a glass dropper. This treatment is recommended by an eminent oculist for tired or strained eyes.

From the Boston Transcript.
William Gowdy, a nephew of John K. Gowdy, formerly consul general to Paris, is a candidate for county assessor in Rushville, Ind. Democratic leaders questioned his eligibility, charging that he had not been a freeholder for four years, as required by law. Young Gowdy, however, proved that during the period named he had owned half a lot in the Rushville cemetery, and Attorney-General Miller has decided that the possession of this "six feet of earth" constitutes eligibility in the eye of the law.

Harriet A. Chickering, wife of George E. Chickering, former superintendent of the public schools in North Andover and Merrimack, passed away at 6.30 o'clock this morning at the family home, 81 Berkeley street.

The deceased had been ill about 14 weeks and although the best medical care had been administered it was to no avail and her health gradually failed until the 3rd came this morning.

Mrs. Harriet A. Chickering was born in Manchester, N. H., in 1844, the daughter of Josiah M. and Elizabeth (Jones) Barnes. She spent her early life in that city where she attended the public schools and later graduated from Bradford academy. In 1866 she was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to George E. Chickering, and in the following year Mr. and Mrs. Chickering came to this city where they have resided ever since.

The deceased was a faithful and devoted attendant at Trinity church, and while she was always willing to aid all good causes she preferred to remain at home where she found pleasure in the peace and comfort of the fire.

She is survived by her husband, a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth B. Fitch of Newton Centre and by a son, George William Chickering of Arlington Heights.

The funeral will take place Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in the Old South cemetery, Andover.

A meeting of the trustees of the Essex Agricultural society held a meeting in the Peabody Town hall, Thursday, at which Sherman Nelson of Georgetown presided in the absence of President Russell of Methuen.

Local Trustee Winfield S. Hughes of Rollinsford farm in the Pond district, was in attendance.

The premium list for 1907 was revised, but only a few changes were made, among them being the elimination of game birds and bantams from premium competition.

J. W. DEAN

EQUAL TO THE EMERGENCY.

"So you break our engagement, Gwendolen!" he exclaimed bitterly. "Then in your presence let me end the life which you have blighted."

Drawing forth a vial marked "poison," he put it to his lips, and drained it to the last drop. As he sank back unconscious, did the beautiful girl fling herself upon his breast in an agony of remorse and burst forth into frenzied sobs? Scarcely!

Hastily quitting the room, she returned presently, her lovely face tragic, yet composed. Kneeling beside the young man she forced between his lips the following: (1) One cup of turpentine; (2) one pint of milk; (3) a bowl of warm soapsuds; (4) a small bottle of aromatic ammonia; (5) a cup of black coffee; (6) a glass of mustard water; (7) a glass of vinegar; (8) juice of a lemon; (9) the beaten whites of six eggs; (10) one cup of flour and water.

"Algernon," she observed coldly, as he began to revive, "it is evident you did not know that I am a graduate of a correspondence course in first aid to the injured. My one regret is that, since it was impossible for me to ascertain whether the poison you took was an acid or an alkali, I was compelled to administer all the antidotes of which we had learned."

HUMAN-FACED CRAB.

The human-faced crab, called "Helke-gani" in Japanese, is only rarely caught on the coast of Takamatsu, Japan, where, according to legend, a decisive battle was fought about 800 years ago between the two great families of Helke and Genji. In that battle the former was totally defeated and many brave warriors were killed. Local tradition says that every crab with the human face on its back holds the disembody spirit of a dead hero. That is why the creature is called "Helke-gani" (i. e., Helke-crab).

The Barber—Did I ever shave you before?

The Victim—Yes, once.

The Barber—I don't remember your face.

The Victim—No; I suppose not. It's all healed up now—Cassell's Magazine.

RELY ON YOURSELF.

"In battle or business, whatever the game, in law or in love, it's ever the same; in your struggle for power or scramble for pelf, let this be your motto: 'Rely on yourself.'"

—JOHN G. SAXE.
